Arrest in Epic Cyber Swindle

A 28-year-old American, believed by prosecutors to be one of the nation's cyber-crime kingpins, was indicted Monday along with two Russian accomplices on charges that they carried out the largest hacking and identity-theft caper in U.S. history. Federal prosecutors alleged the three master-minded a global scheme to steal data from more than 130 million credit and debit cards by hacking into the computer systems of five major companies. The companies included Hannaford Bros. Supermarkets, 7-Eleven and Heartland Payment Systems Inc., a credit-card processing company. Albert Gonzalez, 28 of Miami was arrested by Federal Agents.

CAUTION

The Corporate Staff of Executive Security Specialists, Inc. would like to remind everyone that Schools are back in session. Please drive safely and obey all school zone speed limits as they are posted. We wish everyone a safe and fun school year!
